

11 November 2004

Celebrities battle it out at charity pub quiz

Stars from TV and film will be GATHERING In a city pub on TUESDAY 16 NOVEMBER to take part in the annual charity pub quiz for The National Deaf Children's Society (NDCS).

Celebrities including Paul Young, Emma Thomson, Jane Horrocks, Michael Greco, Sir Derek Jacobi, Michelle Collins, Imelda Staunton, Celia Imrie, Ian Kelsey, Bill Oddie and Roger Lloyd Pack will be joined by teams from Teachers, Casualty and The Bill - all of whom will be pitting their wits against each other in this gripping contest.

The event will raise funds for NDCS and promote awareness of its vital work. This will be the fourth year running for the pub quiz and it gets more popular every time, with many guests returning year after year. Jim Carter, NDCS Vice President, is quizmaster again this year and promises to keep hecklers in check. He says:

"The pub quiz is one of the biggest events in the NDCS calendar, and the competition gets more cut-throat every year! It is a hugely enjoyable event for everyone involved and very successful for the charity. I am delighted to be involved for a fourth year."

The celebrities will be battling it out at The Brewery, Chiswell Street, London EC1Y 4SD from 8.00pm, and there will be a photo call from 7.00pm.